Governor West of Salt Lake city says that admit the territory of Utah into the Union at this time would be simply to add to our other problems the particularly tough one of a Mormon State and to put every non-Mormon in Utah at the mercy of the hierachy. The "saints" outnumber their gentile neighbors four to one, and they obey implicitly the orders of the heads of their so-called church. He thinks the best possible government for Utah for some time to come is a governor and a territorial commission.

Dr. Pinel of Paris is said to have succeeded in hypnotizing several subjects by means of the phonograph. All the commands given through this channel were, he declares, as readily obeyed as those which he uttered directly, and "suggestions" of every possible sort were as effectually communicated through the medium of the machine as it made viva voce. The conclusion which he deduces from his experiments is that the re-

As a substitute for granite blocks, steel aving is attracting considerable attention its durability being said to be quite a poin its favor, and its cost being somewha less. It consists of steel strips about 21/2 nches wide and 1 inch thick, rolled with a shannel on the side exposed to traffic, and with notches about 6 inches apart; these strips weigh 11 pounds to the yard, are laid seross the street a distance of about 5 inches between centers, and their length is only sufficient to extend to the middle of the street, so that the proper slope from the center to the gutters can be securad. They are bolted together, so as to insure them against ound, practical and forcible document, just lateral slipping, and are fastened to wooden sills. A firmly constructed bed of gravel composes the support for this pavement, pitch and cement are poured, filling the interstices to a level with the tops of the strips and rendering the surface comparatively smooth. THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Mr. President and Gentlemen: In the organization of the respective branches of this General Assembly in accor-dance with law, and the choice of the execu-tive officers of the State, in obedience to the of this State. Such reasonable demands as provisions of the constitution, on a failure by the people to elect as provided, you have completed the important preliminary work of this session and set in motion all the departments of the government for another blennial term. The power of election conferred upon and exercised by you was embodied in the constitution by its framers, and for seventy years has been the continued favored policy of the State. Deeply grateful for the honorable position to which your favor has assigned me, I enter upon the duties of the honorable position to which your favor has assigned me, I enter upon the duties of the state. Such reasonable demands as are made by the board for the extension of the work of the Normal school should receive your cordial approval and consideration.

The active militia of the State is composed of thirty-seven companies of infantry, two platoons of light artillery and four machine-gun platoons, organized into four regiments, one battalion and one battery, numbering 177 officers and 2,374 enlisted men, an inhigh office of executive with a deep sense of its responsibilities, with a single ambition, its responsibilities, with a single ambition, to serve our beloved common-wealth loyally and well, and animated by the single purpose, to emulate the honorable service of the long line of distinguished executives that have preceded me.

In obedience to the requirements of law, I shall present to you the condition of the several deartments of the government with nently fitted for the position, and that in his motion the Superior court will gain a an sure to do it honor, and Fairfield counwill secure a representation upon the eral departments of the government, with

FINANCE.

The reports of the Treasurer, which will

e submitted to you, cover the period of two years from June 30, 1886, to June 30, 1888, and disclose a most satisfactory condition of the finances.

The receipts of the treasury from all sources, including balance on hand June 30, 1886, $325,789.23, were:

ear ending June 30, 1887. Sear ending June 30, 1888. EXPENDITURES. 25.005.853.0 Of this sum $751,699.03 was applicable to the ordinary expenses or civil list fund; the balance consists of deposits with the Treasurer while between the steel strips a mixture of or the several purposes stated below.

The financial condition of the treasury justifies the policy of the last General Assembly in authorizing the funding of maturing indebtedness in bonds payable at the pleasure of the State. Such bonds found a ready market at a premium aggregating $29,100.00. Since the date of the last report, bonds of this issue, to the amount of $500,000.00, have seen redeemed, and ample funds reserved to meet all the requirements of the treasury.

The balance of this optional issue of $500,-000:00 can undoubtedly be met without embarrassment to the treasury within a reasonably short period.

The bonded indebtedness, less cash on hand, civil list fund, was:

$551,856,55 had been reduced by the payment heretofore referred to, and then amounted to $3,740,-600.00, redeemable as follows:

for the redemption of this debt as maturity by the creation of a sinking fund from such surplus moneys as from time to time accumu-late in the treasury in excess of the ordinary demands. Such a fund properly invested, with its yearly accretions, would gradually provide for this bonded indebtedness. The revenues of the State are largely rived from the following sources:

From the Insurance Commissioner.
Avails of Courts and Bonds forfeited,
State Tax from Towns,
Militaty Commutation Tax,
Tax on Savings Banks, Tax on Northesident Stock,
Tax on Mutual Insurance Companies,
Tax on Agents of Insurance Companies States.

The several recommendations of the Treas urer are entitled to your careful considera tion, especially those relating to the prompt and proper distribution of funds deposited by the receivers of the Townsend Savings Bank without subjecting claimants to oner-ous regulation and expense, and also that some adequate provision be made to regulate by law places of deposit for the funds in the hands of the Treasurer, a proper and just relief to that official from an undue personal responsibility in the custody of the moneys of the State. The last grand list returned to the Comproller, that of October, 1887, amounts to $352,795,926 00, an increase over that of the gainst the incorrigible or habitual criminal classes by lengthened or permanent terms of imprisonment. Such amendment thereto as largely comes from the cities and more populous towns. The taxes collected and paid into the treasury during the year ending July, 1887, were $698,355.23; July 1, 1888, $437,157.23.

As provided by law estimates for appropriations for the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1891, have been prepared by the Treasurer, and will be duly submitted for your approval. The estimated receipts for this nnial period are $3,531,300.00, and for biennial period are $3,331,300.00, and for appropriations $3,233,796.00. On account of large receipts from various sources, owing to the change in laws for the taxation of railroads and other corporations, the Treasurer believes that without embarrassment to reduced to one mill, and has so estimated This slight reduction is a step in the righ direction, and a needed relief to our sparsely settled and strictly agricultural communities where population and values seem to have a downward tendency. It is my belief that with economic and judicious appropriations, the day is near at hand when this tax can be still further reduced and eventually elimins

I am pleased to report that in drill, discipline and general equipment the Connecticut brigade is not excelled by the troops of any other State. The maintenance of the brigade at its present high standard involves a large expenditure, which is cheerfully borne by the people. The annual commutation tax collected substantially meets the ordinary maintenance of this branch of the ordinary maintenance of this branch of the public service. The brigade has recent-ly been provided with new uniforms, and armories are now owned by the State in all tewns where two or more companies are lecated. No large expenditure will be required for such purposes, unless provision is forty companies. A special estimate with this end in view will accompany the annual report of the heads of the several military

Objections are taken by friends of deceased soldiers to certain provisions of the act relating to the "burial of soldiers and sailors," and requests will be made for an amendment thereto, which will relieve it from some of its odious provisions.

LABOR STATISTICS. The duties of the commissioner of labor tatistics have been so faithfully performed that the department has required the respect and confidence of the industrial and busiand considence of the industrial and business classes, for whose benefit and information the bureau was organized. Through this considence a large amount of statistical information has been secured, and the forthcoming report will furnish a broad foundation on which to harmonize and adjust many of the seeming differences between capital and lasor. The proper and extended distribution of the reports of this department, in excess of the number now provided for, will, in the judgment of the commissioner, add greatly to its usefulness, and should, in my opinion, be willingly provided for.

STATE CHARITIES. Connecticut has endeavored to provide with a liberal hand in all matters of her charitable and humanitarian work, making ample provision for the insane, the imbe-cile, the deaf and dumb, and her patriotic, disabled war veterans.

CONNECTICUT HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE. On the 30th of June last there were comfined in the hospital at Middletown 1,292 patients. The buildings and accommodations tients. The buildings and accommodations are taxed to their full capacity, and steps should be taken at an early day to provide additional room either at Middletown or some other locality. The policy of increasing the numbers under one supervision is of doubtful propriety. During the year the trustees have been enabled to make some needed permanent improvement from the income of the institution, and all ordinary expenses of the bospital have been met out October 31, 1888, the gross bonded debt expenses of the hospital have been met out of moneys received for the support of Di tients, leaving a considerable cash fund in the hands of the treasurer for like purposes, as the wants of the institution may require

FITCH'S SOLDIERS' HOME. The home at Noroton meets a legitimate want, in a suitable provision by the State, within her own boundaries, for her sick and disabled veterans. Nearly two hundred are now accommodated. The buildings and grounds are being rapidly improved. Ap-propriations already provided will, for the present at least, furnish the means for such accessary work. By a recent enactment of Congress, an annual appropriation of one Congress, an annual appropriation of one hundred dollars has been granted for each disabled soldier cared for by the State in a home of this character. This appropriation will largely reduce the cost of maintenance to the State, although not covering the legitimate expense incurred. A considerable number of patients heretofore treated and cared for in the various hespitals of the State are provided with a home and proper care here, with a large saving of expense to the State. STATE PRISON The improvements ordered by your predecessors upon the State prison at Wethersfield have been substantially completed within the limit of the appropriation provided. The prison accommodations for the criminal classes are modern in their character and equal to the wants of the State for many ears. The directors believe, and will so cessity that the present work shops be re-placed. Erected more than fifty years ago, they are now inadequate and unfitted for the equired for this purpose if the recommenlation meets with your approval.
